Last night's arrests were few and far-between as regards petty offenders, F. L. Swan was run in for indecent actions; one liegele man forgot his lamp, while W. A. Dean, John Green and John Brown, three bill-posters, were arrested charged with passing hand-bills on the street.

The ward primary associations could not visit Liberty Park on the analysersary of the hirth of Brigham Young on account of the weather, so tomorrow has been selected and the little ones will gambel on the grass and under the trees and enjoy themselves in various manners while the old folks look on and have an equally pleasant day in watching them.

Presidency-Organ Recital-Trip to Saltair-Review and Concert at Fort Douglas-Reception at the Knutsford-Gen. Lawler as a Political Possibility For Illinois.

Reception at the Kautsford.

The day was ended with a successful reception at the Kautsford, where the visitors received from 9 until 19. The militia, not to be outdone in honoring the soldiers of another generation, marched to the hotel, and the three companies of infantry and a company of cavalry gave an exhibition drill and review, while the distinguished veterans watched them, if with kindiy words and looks. After the drill the boys went back to their armories, stripped off their accountements and attended the reception. At it nearly all the old Grand Army veterans were in attendance, and many prominent citizens who were not in the war.

Today the Grand Army will hold its great encampment and camp fire in honor of the general and will rouse up the old patriotic feelings again.

General Lawler is not loss prominent in politics than he is in the G. A. R. He is being boomed for the next Republican candidate for sovernor of Illinois, though he will not admit that he is to be in the race. He will be pressed by the Granid Army men. He does not care to talk politics on this occasion, however, and is very reticent on the silver question and the outlook in his state. He is evidently not enthusiastically in favor of the Republicans declaring for free silver just yet.

publicans declaring for free silver just yet.

In appearance the commander is rather short, with a rotundity that bespeaks the honor done him since his acquisition of the office he now holds and the peaceful nature of his pursuits since he laid dot n the sword after the war. He has rather a massive head, with eyes, mountache and general features that very much resemble those of General Logan, though cast on a broader mold. He is not talkative, seeming to prefer listening to giving expression to his own views. However, on occasion he can enliven a party by telling a good story that brings up old recollections.

Because of its much greater strength, the Royal Baking Powder is more economical than any similar leavening

DEVINE'S TURN NOW.

Amos Moreton.

While all the firemen who are on trial before the fire and police board were on heard on the various charges of trouble, consumption, failing eyesight and to hear the evidence in the case and the matter has been continued until July 15. This was the result of a motion by Judge Hoge, who stated he had learned during the day that Dr. Meacham, who is an important witness for the city, was in St. Louis, and would not return until Prior to the meeting of the board, the members of the commission held a short executive session in the office of the chief of police, at which the question of whether the board can try a man with only three members present, when the deonly three members present, whon the defendant objects, or not was heard.

It was amounced hast night that Commissioner Stephens had examined the law in the case, and inclined to the belief that Judge Powers was right when he made the point at the last meeting.

Nothing was said regarding the matter
however, and Judge Powers proceeded with the business on hand. He stated that he had examined the law on the case and had arrived at the conclusion the board has the right to issue subpoemas
and compel the attendance of winesses.

In this view, after reading the statute,
Judge Hoge concurred, Judge Powers will supply the board with subpoemas totay, and they will be served on the various witnesses which will be examined at the trial of the chief tomorrow.

Answeing the demand of the members who want a bill of particulars of the charges against them, the city attorney served a paper on Judge Powers in the case of McMullin, in which the board states it does not have to make specific statements as are required by the de-

case of McMuilin, in which the board states it does not have to make specific statements as are required by the demand, but in this case will accede to the request and will state that on the ligh of May, 184, and for several weeks thereafter, he was guilty of the offenses charged.

ter, be was guilty of the offenses charged.

Juage Hoge gave notice that at the trial of the chief ho would appear, either duperson or by deputy, as the attorney for the city, which was entered.

The trial of Chief Devine will begin in the police court room at 10 o'clock tomorrow. A larger room had to be secured in order to accommodate the army of witnesses. It is understood the chief will waive the right to demand the presence of a full board and will consent to go to trial with three commissioners only.

Some time this week Judge Powers will go into the district court and will ask the reinstatement of the four men.—But, Chapman, Splain and Welch. It is the intention of the men to be reinstated. In the case of Amos Moreton, the attorneys for the fireman say there is no doubt of his winning. The law on these cases, taken from the rulings made by other states, is to the effect that a full board must commit in the judgment, or rather that all members must be present when a decision is made.

Moreton feels very deeply over the an-

John Reese, a 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reese, of Coalville, was kicked to death by a horse on Sunday evening at the ranch of a brother of Mr. Reese, near East Rockport. The little fellow, together with his cousins, had gone out after some cattle, and while in a ravine out of sight of the others he fell. His foot coucht in the attrum and he was caught in the stirrup and he was dragged around in a circle, while the unimal kicked him to death. The remains were terribly mangled. The unfortunate lad was taken back to Coalville and buried there yesterday.
